

UU Cardigan Winter Weekend 2008 – Summary Report

About 40 of us came to AMC Cardigan Lodge for our March 2008 winter weekend.

On Saturday morning we get a weather-window of sunshine and some of the more adventuresome gather in front of the lodge to prepare for a hike to the summit of Mt. Cardigan.

The ground is clear on the walk and parking lot where it has been shoveled, but there is LOTS of snow everywhere else around us, including underfoot on the trail.

We actually have to climb up into the clouds to get to the summit fire tower which is covered in rime ice. For a short while the clouds lowered and we were looking out above them.

Saturday afternoon we get heavy rain, so most of us gather in the lodge common area to socialize, read, play games and enjoy great food. What a fine group to be with!
